

HADES January 25, 2013

The HADES team has reviewed the comments on the application. We have started making the necessary corrections that are due in February. We discussed the available meeting times for the team members and updated contact information. We will begin by reviewing our timeline and task lists. The microbiological analysis techniques are currently under review to see if there are any additional measurements that need to be conducted.